

A Light Ahead by Campbell 12

Do you feel so hopeless,
When you think of tomorrow?
Can we find happiness,
In this dark place?

Where do you go to find faith,
A place where hope is not lost?
Is there a way we can feel safe,
Where there's no emotional cost?

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.

With all the struggles,
And trials that you go through.
How can you make it,
When there's no one to help you?

Can we find a way,
To ease all of this pain?
Is there a place of healing,
That we can sustain?

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.

When there is light ahead.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

In your darkest moments,
When you feel that all is lost.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.
When there is light ahead.

When there is light ahead.
There's never a tear to shed,
When there is light ahead.

Light ahead.
