

Brutal World by Campbell 12

As I walk,
I see gray sky.
And I wonder why.

Why pain?
Why struggle?
Still wonder why.

Why greed?
Why hate?
Always wonder why.

And now is the dark secret out?
And now does reality fill us with doubt?

Are we really living in a brutal world?
Is there any hope for us to make it through?

Even though we know it's dark we still find a spark.
Even though they take control we still stay bold.

In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.
In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.

I just try,
To stay strong,
And I know why.

I just try,
To have hope.
And I know why.

I just try,
To spread light,
And I know why.

And now is the dark secret out?
And now does reality fill us with doubt?

Are we really living in a brutal world?
Is there any hope for us to make it through?

Even though we know it's dark we still find a spark.
Even though they take control we still stay bold.

In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.
In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.

And now is the dark secret out?
And now does reality fill us with doubt?

Are we really living in a brutal world?
Is there any hope for us to make it through?

Even though we know its dark we still find a spark.
Even though they take control we still stay bold.

In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.
In this brutal world that we live in.
In this brutal world we'll never give in.

Never,
(Never, Never)
Never give in.

Copyright © 2024 by Campbell 12